Artists display wares at Art in the Redwoods

Close to 40 artists will show their wares at booths at the Art in the Redwoods Festival starting on Friday for the Champagne Preview and from 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 20 and 21.

North Coast style clothing booths will include Ataraxia Designs and Bohemian Mermaid. From the Point Arena pier will be One Weave where Zack Robison and Autumn Werr-Waters have put together a clothing store reflecting her long history of loving to recycle beautiful clothing. They promise to help visitors create new fashion with a creative vision that might include weaving a feather into one's hair.

Jewelry always tops the list with the largest variety, says Gualala Arts. Locals will head to Ling-Yen's finely handcrafted pieces. She works mainly in silver, semi-precious stones and pearls. The Ling-Yen Designs style ranges from the traditional to the modern, and is completely unique.

Susan and Walt Rush reside in Irish Beach, but have quite a local following. Walt says he is influenced by the coastal surroundings and the metals and stones with which he works. Visitors should look for their beautifully constructed booth.

Local jewelry artist Marla Skibbins will display her new line of handcrafted jewelry.

Also local, photographer Rozann Grunig has created high-quality greeting cards and framed photographs of local Mendonoma landscapes and wildlife.

Coastal resident, Rhoda Taplow, makes jewelry made from beads she collected from her travels to China and Africa and each has a story and history.
