UPCOMING WORKSHOP AT GUALALA ARTS • JUNE 13, 2022 “PAPER & STICKS”

Gualala, California, March 22, 2022 — Gualala Arts announces a new workshop. “Paper & Sticks”, with instructor Jacqueline Mallegni is set for Monday, June 13, 2022, from 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. (Sign-up no later than June 6, 2022). The workshop will take place in the Upstairs Gallery/Classroom at Gualala Arts Center. Tuition for this class is $230, and there will be a material fee of $25.

Mallegni adds, “During this class we will build an organic form by lashing rattan together, then you’ll embellish your sculpture with beautiful handmade flax paper. You’ll experience learning a meditative, contemporary, non-traditional papermaking technique with flax roving. Flax paper is highly textured lending itself to various applications for sculpture and collage.”

This class is designed to make friends with your inner-critic and to have fun. At the end of the day you will have a beautiful fiber sculpture. Plant inclusions and foraged materials are encouraged.

Material List for Students:

Hand clippers, scissors, measuring tape, 1 cup measuring cup and 1 tablespoon measuring spoon, chip brush (1-2” wide), sponge, 1-2 qt bowl (glass, plastic, stainless steel), painters tape, notebook, cloth or paper towels.

Optional material suggestions:

For inclusions: fresh or dried pressed leaves/flowers; decorative/joomchi/mulberry abaca, cotton paper; cotton or silk thread; ink or laser jet images (small), other cellulose based fibers such as, bamboo, hemp, nettle, rose, lavender, sea cell or silk.
